Dave Cyr Elected to Second Term as Board Secretary of Georgia's Top Commercial Contractor Association

Atlanta, GA, August 2, 2011 – The Associated General Contractors of America Georgia Chapter (Georgia Branch, AGC) elected Dave Cyr as the 2011-12 chapter secretary serving his second consecutive term in this role. Cyr is President of Parrish Construction Group, a Perry-headquartered, full-service contractor with expertise in facility planning, preconstruction, construction management at-risk, general contracting, and design build services. Founded 1995, the firm specializes in academic, commercial, educational and industrial projects for the public and private sectors throughout Georgia. Continued steady growth and expansion of the firm's operations in 2010 with a new office in Alpharetta resulted in average annual revenues exceeding $60 million.

Cyr was appointed by Governor Perdue in 2006 to serve on the State Licensing Board for Residential and General Contractors. Currently, he serves as chair of the General Contractor Division of the Board. In addition to volunteering time to serve the construction industry, Cyr is active in the leadership at Perry United Methodist Church. He enjoys participating in many civic, charitable and economic development organizations in and around the Perry community as well. "It is an honor for me to serve on the AGC Board representing our member firms and the state's construction industry. I am pleased to be in the company of so many outstanding professionals who make up our great association," says Cyr.

Other officers joining Cyr in leading the Chapter's board of directors include Tony Pellicano, Pellicano Construction in Albany and Atlanta as president; Ken Swofford, Swofford Construction in Austell as vice president; and Randall Redding, R. K. Redding Construction, Inc. in Bremen as treasurer.
